Approved For Release 2001/07/26: CIA-RDP70B00338R000200010108-6

Nitze Also Declines to Testify

By Warren Unna Washington Post Staff Writer

tary Clark Clifford, now it's tary Clark Clifford, now it's to expect an appearance by prised everyone with an anthe Defense Secretary as the nouncement from the witness from the Pentagon that now it Deputy Defense Secretary lead-off witness on military Paul H. Nitze, who has sent aid authorization his regrets about not appearing to testify publicly before nally won its battle and got Monday).

Only there were no regrets expressed. Just a phone call to foreign economic aid authorithe Committee staff from a Pentagon aide announcing that two lesser Defense official was explained that two lesser Defense officies.

Toreign economic and authoric was explained that intra and increase, a remagnifulation of the Paul C. Warnke, Assistant Deman explained when queried. And he added: "There is not a tional Security Affairs, would lot of money involved." at the hearing scheduled for next Monday on the Administration's request for $540 million in military aid authorization.

The Committee chairman, Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) immediately dispatched a short and elegantly muted letter to Secretary Clifford.

"The Committee regrets that . . . Nitze finds that he is unable to appear on March 25 as agreed," Fulbright wrote.

"It is the view of the Committee on Foreign Relations that the subject of military assistance is of such significance that the Secretary of Defense should be heard in public session as in the past. The Committee is, of sourse, aware of the need for you to familiarize yourself with the subject and will hold itself available for I your appearance at your convenience."

What wasn't written was that Clifford and Nitze's boss, President Johnson, just doesn't want any more of his lieutenants exposed to questions on Vietnam and on how many more troops the Administration is prepared to send there. An impasse could hold up committee approval of the ard bill.

With only one exception, that of former Defense Secreaid authorization.

the Senate Foreign Relations Secretary of State Dean Rusk to appear in public session on tary Thomas Gates, the Senate | The Committee also had put appear in Clifford's stead, and First it was Defense Secre- for the past 15 years has come got nowhere. Then Rusk sur- Monday). d authorization.

This year, the Committee figappearing on March 18 (last Heinz, director of military as-

But Clifford didn't appear.

Foreign Relations Committee in a request for Clifford, but a week later, March 25 (next sistance.

"The hearings are on the to appear in public session on He sent word that he was too military assistance program March 11—under the guise of busy and too new at his job. It and they are the pertinent witwas explained that Nitze and nesses," a Pentagon spokes-